

Data protection declaration

Personal data that you provide to us (e.g. name, address, e-mail address) is used by Kundisch GmbH & Co KG exclusively to respond to your requests. It may therefore be necessary for us to store your personal data for this purpose. No data is passed on to third parties. Further use of your data is strictly subject to your consent.

It is perfectly possible to use the Kundisch website without disclosing personal data. As with any website, our server temporarily records e.g. the IP address of the enquiring computer, the file request of the client, the http response code and the web page from which you are visiting us. However, this information is not evaluated on an individual basis.